

Signs Your Child May Need Extra Academic Support:

Some of the most important signs to look for are:

- Falling or inconsistent grades
- Difficulty reading, writing, or doing math
- Trouble focusing or following directions
- Frequent behavior concerns or suspensions
- Avoiding school or not wanting to attend
- Emotional outbursts or withdrawal

Actions to take:

- Speak to your child then consider speaking to child's pediatrician
- Bring your concerns to the school (Teachers, Guidance Counselor, Adjustment Counselor, Principal)
